Coronavirus Testing Information
COVID-19 Emergency
PA 4th Senate District

If you think you should be tested for COVID-19 from the [City of Philadelphia's COVID-19 testing FAQ]:

- Start with your regular medical provider or the hospital system where you last received medical care. Call or contact them over the internet so that a medical professional can evaluate whether testing is appropriate for you.
 - ❖ Penn Medicine: call COVID-19 Hotline at (267) 785-8585 or go to their website.
 - ❖ Jefferson: use JeffConnect for a virtual doctor's visit and testing referral if indicated or go to their website.
 - ❖ Temple Patient Triage Hotline at (215) 707-6999 or go to their website.
 - ❖ Einstein Hospital (800) 346-7834 or go to their website.
 - ❖ Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (800) 879-2467 or go to their website.
 - ❖ Mercy Health COVID-19 Hotline (833) 247-1258.
 - ❖ Mainline Health Contact Center (866) 225-5654 or go to their website.
 - ❖ PHMC: call (855) 887-9229 or go to their website.
 - ❖ City Health Center patients can call (215) 685-2933.
 - ❖ Many Federally Qualified Health Centers and other clinics offer testing. Call before going to the clinic.

If you cannot get tested through your medical provider, you can be tested at a public drive-through site:

Philadelphia Public Testing: General Instructions

- Center City (undisclosed location)
 - This site is available by appointment ONLY. Call (267) 491-5870 for a referral.
- Rite Aid, 7401 Ogontz Ave.
 - Register at www.riteaid.com. Click the red "COVID-19" banner.
 - Additional Rite Aid testing locations are listed here.
 - Hours: 9am-5pm daily.
- AFC Urgent Care, 180 W. Girard, 19123 AND 2401 W. Cheltenham Ave, 19095

Food Resources
COVID-19 Emergency
PA 4th Senate District

The Governor's 'Stay at Home' order does not prohibit food banks and their volunteers from offering food services, nor do they prohibit school districts from offering food services to children during the statewide school closure. Food will continue to be available at schools, food pantries and additional sites. Schools and school districts may continue to bring in essential employees involved in the preparation and distribution of meals.

The following resources have been consolidated from Governor Wolf's COVID-19 resources portal, the PA Department of Agriculture, the City of Philadelphia, and Montgomery County school district websites.

For Individuals Seeking Food:

- Food resources are available at schools, food pantries, and additional pick-up sites.
 - Schools – any child can pick up meals. Pick-up locations & items vary by school district.
 - Food Pantries – Contact Feeding Pennsylvania and Hunger-Free Pennsylvania to find out about food assistance services offered in your county.
 - WhyHunger: call or text your zipcode to 1-800-548-6479 for pantries near you.
 - Philabundance (serving Bucks, Chester, Delaware, MontCo & Philadelphia).
 - Share Food Program (serving Montgomery and Philadelphia Counties).
 - Philadelphia sites – The City of Philadelphia's new food finder, phila.gov/food, can help anyone search easily for food and meal sites. A list of sites is also viewable here.
- Philadelphians with disabilities can register for Liberty Resources home delivery program by calling or texting (215) 709-9619, emailing food@libertyresources.org, or completing this form.
- SNAP. Eligible individuals can apply for SNAP benefits at www.compass.state.pa.us.
- Any Pennsylvanian who is suddenly in need of food should complete the DHS Access to Food Survey (link below) so the Governor's Feeding Taskforce knows where to direct resources.

For Pantries:

- The PA Department of Agriculture has sent guidance to all food banks encouraging all pantries to follow best practices to limit risk of exposure.
- Food pantries in need of food should complete the DHS Access to Food Survey to alert the Governor's emergency Feeding Taskforce of where resources should be directed (links below).

For Businesses:

- Businesses are encouraged to fill out this survey to assist the Governor's Taskforce.

SNAP Benefits

- Pennsylvanians can apply for SNAP online at www.compass.state.pa.us.
- Emergency SNAP applications can be expedited and issued in five days. DHS will continue to process application and renewal benefits, so people should continue to send in paperwork as usual. But, for anyone currently on SNAP who misses a deadline, who is not able to submit the paperwork or complete an interview or provide verifications for any reason during this emergency, DHS will ensure their SNAP benefit continues.
- SNAP certification periods have been extended for 6 months to prevent SNAP case closures.
- DHS has begun to issue emergency allotments to all SNAP households for March and April 2020, increasing the current monthly allotment.

Philadelphians with disabilities who cannot leave their home

- Beginning in May, Liberty Resources, Caring for Friends, and Share Food Program are offering free, weekly food delivery (contact free) to Philadelphians who are facing food insecurity and cannot leave their home due to disability. To request to join the program, call or text (215) 709-9619, email food@libertyresources.org, or fill out this online form.

To volunteer at a food pantry or food bank

- The Wolf Administration asks that anyone who is healthy and able please consider volunteering with a local food bank or registering for the State Emergency Registry of Volunteers in Pennsylvania, as this time is creating an incredible strain on charitable organizations' efforts.
- United Way of Pennsylvania's 211 website is also compiling organizations that need volunteers or resources so their work can continue.

Options for food pantries seeking food

- Contact the Share Food Program – (215) 223-2220. Share has indicated that requests for additional food will be honored in as soon as 24 hours.
- Contact Philabundance – (215) 339-0900. New orders will take 1 week to fulfill.
- Individuals and pantries in need of food are also encouraged to complete the DHS Food Access Survey. The survey is available at the link provided by the DHS press release.

Pet Food & Pet Sheltering

The Pennsylvania Animal Response Team is coordinating pet food distribution by staging large stockpiles of pet food in strategic locations to support food banks and other distribution networks. The Response Team is also providing emergency sheltering for the pets of people who have gone into the hospital or for health care workers or emergency responders who need assistance in caring for their pets.
