Local Author Talk:

"Ladies of the Street"

Thurs., March 12th, 7 PM

In celebration of Philadelphia's Semiquincentennial, (250th), local author and lecturer Tom Keels will share his knowledge of the women who saved the 1926 World's Fair. The Sesqui Women's Committee were responsible for bringing the history of Philadelphia and America to life in 1926 during the Exposition. Defying corruption in the Republican Organization, they pioneered such concepts as living historians, house museums, and historic preservation.

An illustrated lecture based on the book "Sesqui! Greed, Graft and the Forgotten World's Fair of 1926"
